

Dorothy Casey

After completing an MSc In Environmental Management (research dissertation on fallow deer management), Dorothy Casey started working for Suffolk Wildlife Trust initially as a botanical surveyor and later as County Wildlife Sites advisor when she surveyed sites in the county and collated information for the Register of CWSs. She spent a number of years advising landowners on conservation management before taking on the role of Conservation Manager. She currently manages the wider countryside and reserves teams on behalf of SWT.